NMIN's 2024 Research Conference will bring together a collection of Canada's foremost nanomedicine researchers and innovators, including NMIN Scientific Leaders, Theme Leaders, researchers, trainees, and industry and not-for-profit partner organizations, to:

- share Network research results contributing to realizing the revolutionary potential of nanomedicines and generating social and economic benefits for Canadians;
- feature posters by NMIN trainees – the next generation of nanomedicine research talent, sector leadership and innovation;
- discuss nanomedicine industry priorities and plans for expansion of the Canadian ecosystem, with input from NMIN spin-off company representatives;
- learn from invited keynote speakers with expert knowledge about global innovation trends, nanomedicine science, and experience in scaling nanomedicine companies from local to global operations; and
- explore opportunities to enhance and accelerate Canadian contributions to world-leading nanomedicines science and technologies.
